Harnessing Innovation to Fulfil Unmet Medical Needs

A Singapore-based pharmaceutical research company, we focus on developing novel antibody and cyclic peptide drugs for better patient treatment options

The future of health is taking shape and you can be a part of it
Here at CPR, We:

Are Patient-Centric

Every patient's well-being is our highest priority

Have a Pioneering Spirit

We pursue innovation by consistently improving ourselves and thinking differently

Maintain Integrity

We maintain the highest standards across all our efforts to create a shared value with society

Research Division

Our research teams are crucial in the antibody discovery and development process, achieved with a high degree of independence

Adrian Wee
Onco Pharmacology

“Research autonomy and the friendly work environment are what I love most about CPR. Thanks to my supportive peers, I am able to navigate through the ups and downs of research work.”

Admin Division

Our admin team plans and executes a wide range of services which support the activities of Chugai Pharmabody Research

Heidi Ng
Procurement

“At CPR, there are not just work-related growth opportunities, but the company is also supportive of our personal growth by supporting both our short-term and long-term courses.”
